August 31, 2011

Fortress Technology Inc. – Providing metal detection protection since 1996

(Toronto, ON) Fortress Technology had its humble beginnings in 1996 with the belief that through superior product design and engineering the production of higher quality equipment with better sensitivities could be achieved. The phenomenal market response to the Fortress PHANTOM line of metal detectors has validated that belief and the philosophy on which it is based... simple operation, outstanding reliability, and exceptional performance. Over the years, Fortress has blossomed into a global enterprise with main offices in Canada, the UK, and Brazil serving North America, Europe, and Latin America respectively. Valued Representatives provide inspection solutions to customers world wide. Now in the fifteenth year of supplying dependable product protection, Fortress continues to move forward, taking the initiative to improve and keeping up with the latest in technological advancements; the most recent being the PHANTOM ICON, a state-of-the-art human-machine interface, and to celebrate this milestone in true fashion, the brand new STEALTH metal detector which will be revealed at Pack Expo. Fortress Technology appreciates their customers and the vision of customized solutions to protect products, brand names; and ultimately, the reputation of its clientele is invariably enduring the test of time.
